Group gives students citizenship awards

Nineteen area high-school seniors recently were presented Good Citizenship Awards from the Springfield Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Winners were selected on the basis of character, leadership, dependability, service, patriotism and cooperation. The award is presented annually to an outstanding senior-class student from each of the Menard and Sangamon county high schools.

Students honored by the Springfield chapter are: Natalie Richardson, daughter of John and Sandy Richardson, Athens High School; Matthew Diemer, son of Curt and Cindy Diemer, Auburn High School; Adam Kurfman, son of Renee Kurfman, Calvary Academy; Derek Crouch, son of Cindy Crouch, Glenwood High School;

George Castles III, son of George and Michell Castles, Greenview High School; Cheldon Brown, son of Caroline Brown, Lanphier High School; Mark Wenneborg, son of Ben and Laura Small, Lutheran High School; Caitlin Enlow, daughter of Mark and Margaret Enlow, New Berlin High School;

Alan Mundhenke, son of Steve and Jill Mundhenke, Pawnee High School; Ravindra Reddy, son of Jolene Reddy and the late Anji Reddy, Pleasant Plains High School; Ethan Stephenson, son of Dan and Jane Stephenson, PORTA High School; Jacob Jerome, son of Tom Jerome and Linda Oselan, Riverton High School;

Andrew Purdy, son of David and Leslie Purdy, Rochester High School; Jake Erickson, son of Mark and Julie Erickson, Sacred Heart-Griffin High School; Chad Rentschler, son of Pat and Cathy Rentschler, Sangamon Valley High School;

Gary Hunt III, son of Sharon Hunt, Springfield High School; Sean Crawford, son of Lee and Karen Crawford, Southeast High School; Brian Jones, son of Michael and Trudy Jones, Tri-City High School; and Trevor Thompson, son of Kent and Diane Thompson, Williamsville High School.
